MSEA CONVENTION 2015

OCTOBER 16-17 | OCEAN CITY, MD

This year, MSEA offers free workshops and training on best practices and skillful pedagogy that address today's education issues, including classroom management, the achievement gaps, SLOs, professional concerns, social and academic issues facing students, and how building strong educator/school counselor teams helps create successful school communities.

Building an Instructional Toolkit

Get inspired at workshops that address challenges that you face now—the achievement gaps, classroom management, Common Core, incorporating STEM, creating successful SLOs, and implementing innovative instructional practices.

Exploring Personal and Professional Assets

Topics cover the education and real life issues of teachers, school counselors, education support professionals, and administrators.

Accessing Students Resources

Improve your connection to resources that can help you engage and inspire all of your students. Choose from topics like conflict resolution, providing support and guidance for English Language Learners, special needs students, and hard-to-reach students. Many workshops will provide resources and materials that can be immediately used in your classroom.

The Whole Student

Workshops designed by school counselors focus on the social and academic challenges students face and the individual and school-wide rewards of strong educator/school counselor partnerships. All educators are invited to attend.

For credit, consult your local certification/staff development/human relations department. Participants who arrive and check in with the workshop host within the first 10 minutes of the presentation and stay for its entirety will receive an MSEA Certificate of Attendance.

MSEA Convention workshops are free and open to all Maryland educators.
